VS MAXX™

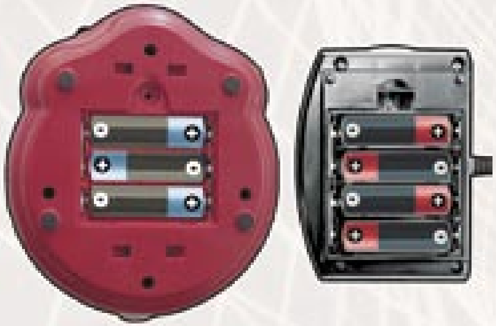

77-IN-1

WIRELESS VIDEO GAME SYSTEM

THANK YOU

Thanks for purchasing this Senario VS-MAXX™ video game. This battery powered control console has 77 preprogrammed games built into it. Just connect it to your television, VCR, or video monitor with the attached audio/video cable and you're ready to play! Your VS-MAXX system is designed for many hours of game-playing fun. To ensure proper performance, please read this manual before connecting the VS-MAXX to your television.

Contents

BATTERY INSTALLATION

Your VS-MAXX requires 7 type-AA batteries.

Installing Or Replacing Batteries

1. Remove cover on the bottom of the controller or receiver.
2. Remove exhausted batteries and dispose of properly.
3. Replace with new type-AA batteries. Be sure the positive (+) and negative (-) ends of the batteries are facing the correct direction (see image). For best results use only fresh, high quality, alkaline batteries.
4. Replace battery cover.

Battery Warnings

- Remove the batteries when your VS-MAXX will not be used for a long time.
- Battery installation should be supervised by an adult.
- Do not mix old and new batteries.
- Do not mix alkaline batteries with standard (carbon-zinc) or rechargeable batteries.
- Do not mix different brands of batteries.
- Only use batteries of the same type recommended in this manual.
- Be sure to insert batteries with correct polarity.
- Remove exhausted from the product.
- Do not short circuit the supply terminals.
- Do not attempt to recharge non-rechargeable batteries (alkaline or standard).

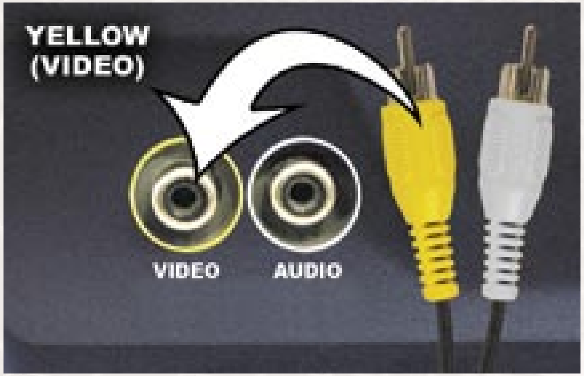

If the images on your TV screen begin to break up or blur, your batteries are probably getting weak. When the batteries finally lose their charge, the Power LED will dim, and the VS-MAXX will turn itself off.

CONTROLS AND CONNECTIONS

Your VS-MAXX game console connects to the TV set via a pair of standard RCA plugs. Most TV sets, video monitors, and VCRs have easily accessible RCA-type jacks. These are color coded to indicate the video connection (yellow) and audio connections (red and/or white).These A/V connections will be located either in the front or back of your TV, video monitor, or VCR. The A/V plugs on the VS-MAXX console must be connected to the proper "input" RCA-type jacks. Be sure to insert the yellow video jack into the yellow socket. The remaining audio plug can be inserted into either the white or red audio socket on your TV, video monitor, or VCR.

In order to play your VS-MAXX game, you'll need to tune your TV to the proper channel. This is often called "input", "auxiliary", or "line in." In some cases, you'll need to use the remote that came with your TV, video monitor, or VCR to locate this channel.

Note: If your TV, video monitor, or VCR does not have RCA jacks, you will need to purchase a separate A/V adaptor (not included).

The VS-MAXX handset communicates with the console by a harmless infrared beam. In order to function properly, the transmitter on the front of the handset must have a clear path to the receiving console on your television. If your game does not respond when you press buttons or move the joystick, make sure both units are turned on and nothing is blocking the IR beam.

USING YOUR VS - MAXX

Turning On Your VS-MAXX

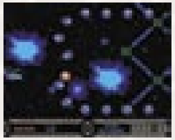

1. Make sure your VS-MAXX is turned off before connecting it to your television set.
2. Connect the RCA plugs to your TV, VCR, or video monitor.
2. Turn your television on and switch to the A/V channel. This is often called input, video, line in, or auxiliary mode. You might have to change channels using the TV, video monitor, or VCR remote control to access it. Look for a button marked input on the remote.
3. Slide the VS-MAXX power switches to the "ON" position. Be sure to turn on both the console and the joystick.
4. Select the game you want to play using the joystick, then press "START".

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

Seizure Warning

A very small portion of the population have a condition that may cause them to have epileptic seizures or suffer a momentary loss of consciousness when viewing certain kinds of flashing lights or patterns commonly presented in our daily environment. These people may experience seizures while watching some television pictures or playing certain video games. People who have not had any previous seizures may nonetheless have an undetected epileptic condition. If you or anyone you may know has experienced symptoms linked to an epileptic condition (e.g. seizures or loss of awareness), please consult your physician before playing any video games. We recommend that parents observe their children while they play video games. If you or your child experience any of the following symptoms: dizziness, altered vision, eye or muscle twitching, involuntary movements, loss of awareness, disorientation, or convulsions, discontinue use of video games and consult your physician.

Image Retention Warning

Some televisions and monitors can be damaged by video game images. This "image retention" is most commonly caused by test patterns, programming screens, paused video games, and other unchanging images. In general, Projection TVs are more vulnerable to this type of damage. Before using your VS-MAXX system, be sure to review the documentation supplied with your television or video monitor to determine whether or not you can safely play video games on it. If you have any questions, please contact the TV manufacturer for additional information. Senario LLC can not be held liable for damage to your TV set.

Additional Safety Information

Before using your video game system with any TV (especially front and rear projection screens and HDTV systems), video monitor, or VCR, review all of the original manufacturer's documentation to determine whether video games can be safely played on it. Senario LLC can not be held liable for any damage to your TV.

Precautions

- When using the VS-MAXX, do not sit or stand too close to the television or video monitor screen.
